COAL TROUBLE STILL IS PARAMOUNT ISSUE IN STATE AND NATION

Another Conference Called by Attorney General—Indiana Operators Decline to Meet With Miners—Farrington Will Punish the O'Fallon Miners Who Accused Him of Conspiracy.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Means of averting winter coal shortages and of defeating profiteering in the coal trade will be discussed at a conference at New York Monday by representatives of four government departments and a committee from the coal industry. Acting Attorney General Ames tonight said the government hoped to develop a program on which the coal interests could come "half way."

Mr. Ames, who with Attorney General Palmer will direct plan declared there was no reason for a scarcity of fuel and that if the shortage existed it was thru fauly distribution. He added that there were "no economic reasons" for the present high coal prices. This particular phase of the situation, he said, is being given close study.

Altho the question of an embargo on export coal will be discussed, Mr. Ames said it appeared that the embargo could be discarded as an effective means of increasing the supply available for domestic use.

Wage questions probably also will come up since Secretary Wilson is understood to have recommended the re-opening of the wage award in a prepared report on the coal situation in general and strike conditions in the Illinois and Indiana fields in particular, submitted today to President Wilson. His recommendations for a re-opening of the wage award, it is understood would be merely to bring under it wages of mine laborers which were omitted from the award of the bituminous coal commission. Other features of the secretary's report were not disclosed.

INDIANA OPERATORS EXPLAIN POSITION

Chicago, July 29.—Coal operators of Indiana today declined to participate in a joint conference with the miners, as suggested by John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America with a view to changing or amending the commerce commission's award.

The executive committee of the Indiana Bituminous Coal operators said it was influenced "by the fact that all contracts, state and interestae were but a reaffirmantion and acceptance by the operators and miners of an award mandatory in its provisions.

Replies to Mr. Lewis' request for the joint conference have not been sufficient to indicate whether the majority of the mine owenrs favor such a meeting, Thmosa T. Brewster, chairman of the operators' scale committee said today. The coal operators are to meet here tomorrow to discuss the siuation, it was said. They will represent all of the larger mining interests in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvaia.

Taking No Chances.

Chicago, July 29.—"There was nothing else to do," said Phil Penna, secertary of the Indiana Operators' organization. "We would lay ourselves open to the charge of collusion if we met with the miners to discuss a possible wage increase unless the wage question is opened by permission of the government."

To Punish O'Fallon Miners.

Springfield, Ill., July 29.—Disciplinary action against the O'Fallon miners' local, whose members accused their state president, Frank Farrington, of conspiracy with the coal operators to advance the price of coal, was demanded of the state miners' executive board by President Farrington this afternoon.

"Until they get rid of the officers who have accuesd me of such a thing, they'll look to this office in vain for favors," said Mr. Farington in his address to the board. Then he told that the O'Fallon local is asking of the state organization the sum of $200,000 with which to complete their miners' hall and add sufficient capital to their co-operative store.

"They'll never get it with my consent," declared the president. "When that union learns to stand by us and do the right thing then they may expect good treament. They need to purge themselves of the element guilty of that unjust attack."

Dave Wilson, executive board member rose to plead for leniency. He said he agreed that Mr. Farrington's name should be cleared of the charge against him and then added that the damage was not done by a majority in the local but by abou ten per cent of the membership.

"Ninety per cent down there," he said, "are loyal."

His will in the matter, miners who heard him speak said, would be respected. The board adjourned until tomorrow when it is expected the O'Fallon local would be denied financial help.

Looks for Early Agreement.

Both operators and miners look for an early settlement of the strike. President Farrington this morning said he believed a settlement not more than two days off. Favorable action by the operators' scale committee on the demand of the shift men is expeced.

Springfield and Lincoln both showed the result of coal shortage tonight. There were no street lights in either city and in Lincoln street car service was grealy curtailed and was to be stopped altogether at 11 o'clock.

Unless coal is fotrhcoming in the next hree days it was announced the Lincoln, Water, Light & Gas Plant would be closed.

Warsaw, July 29.—The war office communication today announces that the Poles have withdrawn from the northern front along the Prussian boundary which apparently places Bialystok within the Bolsheviki lines. The Polish withdrawal on the extreme left indicates that the reds are well beyond Poland's line set by the supreme council and fifty kilometers from the line in the region of Brest-Litovsk.

The withdrawal in the center also continues owing to the northern pressure. He characterized as "buncomb" the suggestion that contributions be limited to $1,000 for each contributor.

Party heads will scrutinize all campaign gifts so that "no obligation will be entailed on the candidate," he asserted, adding that any plans to restrict the amounts of gifts would be useless since such could be easily circumvented.

Three Word Slogan

In discussing campaign developments, he declared that Governor Cox "as the nominee has become the new head of the party". Democratic campaigners will adopt the slogan, "Peace, Progress and Prosperity"., Mr. White announced. With this line, added, humorously, "We will be Coxsure of winning."

WANTS TO KNOW ABOUT ENGLAND'S OIL POLICY

Government Asks That Country's Intentions in Various Foreign Countries—Seeks Information a sto Pre-War Agreements.

Washington, July 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—An official statement from the state department today disclosed representations have been made to the British government regarding its policy touching the exploitation of oil fields and the distribution of oil from mandate countries. The subject had been discussed informally with Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador here and the American embassy in London also is believed to have been gathering information on the subjects. The exchanges are understood to have begun to take on a more formal character than a month ago and a note was addressed to the British government which was not in any sense a protest but was rather intended to develop the intentions of the British in regard to the oil fields of Mesopotamia and perhaps some of the Balkan countries.

A good deal of confusion exists here as to the nature of agreements reported to have been made between Great Britain and France and perhaps other entente countries regarding the distribution of oil as in Asia Minor.

Information is being sought particularly as to pre-war agreements and the extent of governmental control over the oil fields.

BUSINESS SLOWER ACCORDING TO RESERVE BANK BOARD

Report for July Shows Readjustment in Progress

WORKERS SHOW MORE EFFICIENCY

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Curtailment of industrial activity due to lower demand, cancellation of orders and general readjustment were the outstanding developments in the business of the country during July, the federal reserve board declared tonight in its monthly review.

"In some districts, however, production continues upon old orders, despite the fact that new business has fallen off," the review declared. "In the agricultural regions, improved crop conditions and a more confident tone in business have brought a turn for the better.

"Speculation in commodities is in many sections reported to have been greatly reduced and in some practically eliminated. There is a general feeling that extravagant buying is at least less extreme and dangerous."

Severe Credit Strain

The transportation problem continued unsolved during the moath the review reported and while some local improvements were noted there remained great freight congestion provoking "an undo and unnecessarily severe strain upon credit."

The grain movement has been retarded by car shortage.

Commenting on the labor situation the board declared an increase in efficiency was "one notable feature" of the month, being attributed to the development of unemployment in various parts of the country.

Increased unemployment was ascribed to curtailed manufacturing operations, cancellations of orders and inability to obtain capital for construction work.

Perhaps Sir Thomas Lipton will think an apology due him for several recent references indicating that he is an Englishman. Just now one of his Celtic origin is a little sensitive about references to England.

One fact the public is not going to overlook and that is the promise of the Republican party to take necessary steps for governmental economy which will make lower taxes a possibility. Party candidates for the presidency and vice presidency have both touched upon this very vital subject. The great reason for the insistent demand for a business administration is because the question of taxation has become one of the leading issues.

Arthur Brisbane takes some of the "joy out of life" for those Americans who were pointing with pride to the "American" accomplishment which the defeat of the Shamrock by the Resolute meant. Mr. Brisbane says that out of the crew of 30 which manned the Resolute, there were 22 Norwegians, 7 Swedes and one Dane. This is not the only evidence that if immigration were restricted we would be in a bad way in the U. S.

COMPROMISING WITH VILLA

The disposition that the Mexican government has made of the bandit Villa is indicative of the country. The government evidently is not strong enough to crush the bandit or to punish him, so the present leaders have bought him off and by making a large payment to him and a land grant for each of his followers, the bandit has been persuaded to keep the peace.

In other words, Villa has been bribed. That method may be effective in bringing about law observance in Mexico but it would not succeed very well in the U. S.

A FINE BIT OF MODESTY

A picture of Robert T. Lincoln was recently published, said to be the only one taken of him in many years. Mr. Lincoln shuns publicity and explains his attituude with the statement: "My father was a great man; I am not."

Somehow in reading this simple declaration there comes a feeling that Mr. Lincoln, altho so modest, must have some of the characteristics of his illustrious father. At any rate, he is not making an effort to push himself forward merely because of his ancestry.

CAMPAIGN METHODS.

It may be that Candidate Harding will find it advisable to depart from the front porch campaign program. This will not mean that the party leaders are alarmed and see the need of changing the type of the proposed campaign. The fact is that, judging by political history, the "swing around the circle" style of campaigning doesn't bring the best results. A number of candidates who have followed that plan have been defeated. William J. Bryan is a shining example of the ineffectiveness of an all-oratory campaign.

Perhaps a modified type of front porch campaigning will be the best for that will mean that Senator Harding will accept a certain number of speaking dates but will not travel by special train from city to city or state to state.

URGING JUDGE JONES TO SEEK GOVERNORSHIP

Political friends of Judge Norman L. Jones know that for weeks past he has been receiving letters and telegrams urging him to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor. The demands have been so insistent from various party leaders that the Greene county man has considered the matter seriously. He has served as one of the judges of this judicial circuit with acceptance and has reason in this Democratic district to expect re-election.

Because of his interest in the law and his cordial relations with the bar and the people of the district it is but natural that Judge Jones is reluctant to enter a distinctly political field. But such assurances of support have been given him that he cannot be insensible to the honor shown.

Judge Jones is vigorous and capable. He has an excellent record and, to put it plainly, Republicans who are looking out for the party's interest would rather that Democracy center its interest upon some other candidate.

WHY MAKE THOSE FAST RUNNING MOTORS

There have been 265 deaths in Chicago since January 1st as the result of automobile accidents. There are no statistics available yet as to the death loss down state from like causes, neither have the figures been compiled to prove the large number of injuries resulting from auto accidents.

There is no denying that the figures in this state and others have become so appalling that there has come a common agreement that something must be done to protect automobile drivers from themselves and to give greater safety to others. A very large percentage of these accidents are the result of speeding. A car traveling at 50 miles an hour is not under the control of the operator. The breakage of a bolt, or casting, a slippery pavement, a rut in the road, a cloud of dust or any one of a dozen conditions and an accident happens.

The rapid increase of fatalities and injuries brings the natural query, why so many high powered cars? The laws of this state limit the country road speed to 25 or 30 miles an hour. Within the cities and towns the limit is from 8 to 15 miles. Then where are these fast running cars to be used? Perhaps it will be necessary to regulate by law the manufacture of cars and to stipulate the amount of speed the cars can develop. So long as high powered fast running cars are manufactured and so long as people buy them, just so long will there be fast driving.

PASSING OUT

So live that when you lie in bed, afflicted with the flu, and Dr. Beeswax shakes his head and says your journey's through, you are not filled with vain regrets for things you've left undone; may you observe, "I've paid my debts, and death is bully fun." The debts behind look black as pitch, and spoil your spirits ease, when you are dying of the itch, or hoof and mouth disease. Your widow, draped in trailing black, and heaving sobs of woe, may take in washing at her shack to pay the bills you owe. And she may scrub some neighbor's floor, or wash the big stone step; a thought like this makes death a bore, and from it knocks the pep. I'd hate to sit upon a star in my nice muslin shroud, and watch my widow scrub and char, among earth's maddening crowd. She will not have to do such tricks—I'm not the least afraid; you bet when I have crossed the Styx, my debts will all be paid; and there'll be roubles in the bin, the products of my rhyme; and Jane may blow said money in, and have the dernedest time.

WALHOLI CAMP FIRE GIRLS RETURN FROM OUTING

The Walohi Camp Fire Girls, of which Miss Lucy Coover is guardian have just returned from their pleasant outing at the Wright Cottage, Lake Matanza, where they spent one week swimming, boating and hiking.

The Camp Fire was organized in March and the entire expense of the twelve persons making the trip was paid with the $50 earned by the Camp Fire since then. The money was earned thru ice cream social and two pie sales. One of the ambition of the camp fire girls to make the trip without any of the girls having to pay a part of the expense out of their own money.

The girls all say they had splendid meals which they took "turn about" cooking.

This is their first outing and they consider themselves very fortunate in having been able to make the trip on their limited means and considering their brief time of organization.

DRESSED BEEF PRICE IN PHENOMENAL TRENDS

Report of U. S. Bureau of Markets Shows Unusual Fluctuations in Price of Dressed Beef During First Half of Year — After-effects of War.

Washington.—Unusual fluctuations in the price of dressed beef occurred during the first six months of this year, says a report of the United States Bureau of Markets. Starting with a top price of $21 for good grade beef in January, sharp and erratic price changes marked trading throughout the period, with the low top price of $17 recorded during the last week in May and the high point, $31, made on June 23, an increase of $14 a hundred pounds in 30 days.

A series of unavoidable events, most of them resulting from abnormal conditions produced by the war, contributed to the phenomenal price trends, the report says. Among the principal disturbing influences described are periodical releases by the war department of surplus stocks of beef in an effort to reduce living costs, higher stocker and feeder markets, high priced feeds, fruition of producers' efforts to increase cattle production for war needs and anticipated foreign demands, labor troubles, decreased transportation facilities, embargoes, unsettled foreign credit and exchange conditions, decrease in beef exports, financial credit restrictions, declines in prices of hides, tallow, and other animal by-products and decreased or spasmodic consumption of meat.

In fact, the report says, every possible economic factor incidental to a period of reconstruction and capable of disturbing market conditions for these products of the farm and range had free and almost unlimited action.

Prices of livestock in the Chicago market and those paid for dressed carcases as taken from New York quotations from 10 days to two weeks after the live cattle transactions also showed wide fluctuations, the report asserts. The difference of $2.25 per 100 pounds between prices for good beef steers and the corresponding grade of dressed carcases in January was widened until it stood at $14.50 during the closing days of June. For the same period the difference between the low price of medium steers on the hoof and in the carcass had advanced from $6.25 to $12.75.

A comparison of live cattle prices and prices on relative grades of dressed meats on January 2 and June 30 this year with those of coresponding dates last year shows the top price for good beef steers at the beginning of this year at $18.75 and at the end of June as $16.50 with the opening top price on dressed beef from such steers at $21 and the close at $31. On January 2, 1919, live prices for the same grade were up to $17.75 and at the end of six months the top stood at $14.60, a decline of $3.15. Good dressed beef on January 2, last year, registered a top of $27 and on June 30 had declined $8 to a top of $19.

WORKS HARD TO AVERT FLU EPIDEMIC

Government and City Health Officials Warn People to Keep Clean.

Stay Away from People with Coughs and Colds.

"Avoid crowds if you want to avoid influenza," says Association for Improving the Conditions of New York.

Keep your hands clean, drink plenty of fresh water; sleep with windows open; eat three uniform meals a day including a good breakfast.

People who have catarrh or frequent colds invite Influenza, declares a prominent Kentucky druggist.

The membrane of the throat and nose is raw, sore and tender, and makes a lovely abiding place for germs to thrive and multiply.

He advises an inexpensive homemade remedy that will bring relief in less than a day and will stop all discharge and sooth and heal the inflamed membrane in a few days.

Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Pour three-quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcine into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled.

Gargle the throat as directed and snuff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat clean and healthy.

Nearly all druggists dispense Mentholized Arcine in vials containing exactly three-quarters of an ounce, which is all you need to make a pint of this healthful medicine.

CHAPIN RESIDENTS RETURN FROM WEST

Chapin People Had Interesting Trip—Saw Many of California's Wonders.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Cantrell have returned from their trip to Portland, Oregon, and other western cities. They left Chapin, Monday, June 21st over the Burlington at 11:25 a. m going to St. Paul. From there they went to Seattle, over the C. M. and St. Paul. A great deal of the country in North Dakota and further west seemed rather rough and broken. Butte, Montana was seen from a distance of 15 miles. The first snow was seen at 5:30 p. m. on Wednesday. The train was pulled by a big electric engine for one stretch of 400 miles, and again for a distance of 200 miles. The cities and towns seemed built of good sized houses but the rural districts had very few real houses nothing in sight but barns, stacks. The scarcity of churches was very noticeable along the route. They reached Seattle on Thursday night at 9 o'clock. The weather there being cool and rainy. From Seattle they went to Portland, Oregon, arriving Saturday to visit Guy L. Cantrell and family. Mr. C. visited the Masonic lodge in Portland and had a very enjoyable time. After the conferring of degrees a fine banquet was always in order and the visitor shown very courteous treatment.

They attended church at Portland on Sunday. Saw and viisted with people they used to know from Riverton in this state. They took dinner wth George Rayhll, a son of Prof. J. H. Rayhll of Jacksnville. Mrs. Rayhill is a daughter of James Hutches of Chapin. "Council Crest" in Portland is the highest point in the city, and was so named because the Indians held their councils there many years ago. They spent spent two days at Turner, and attended the state convenon of he Christian Missionary society. This convention was held in a large tabernacle 110x150 feet, and was a great meeting of the disciples.

They took a trip up Columbia Highway to "Vista House," a million dollar building. The trip of 45 miles and return was the finest ever. Other points of interest was St. Peter's Dome, Waukeena Falls, Multnomah Horse Tail Falls, Mt. Hood, Mt. St. Helens, Mt. Shasta, Mt. Ranier, Mt. Haesler, the only live volcano in this country. They took dinner July 4th with his son and family in the "piney" woods. Took dinner July 8th in a million dollar retsaurant. On their visit to Eugene, Ore., they saw the splendid school there. Upon arriving at San Francisco, they were somewhat surprised to see no trace of the earthquake which took place a few years ago.

Visit Santa Clara Valley.

They saw the famous Santa Clara valley where so much fruit is produced. Near Santa Cruz they saw the giant treet which measures 306 feet in height and is 65 feet in circumference. Mr. Cantrell took a string and measured around a tree near by and the writer measured the string and found it to be 41 feet. They arrived at Los Angeles, Thursday, July 15th and saw the damage done there by the earthquake They felt three distinct shocks during the last disturbance. They made visitis to Pasadena Long Beach and Venice.

They attended the Pilgrimage play, "The Life of Christ," at Hollywood in Los Angeles. The drama is constructed to illustrate the words of St. John, the Divine, which are spoken by two ancient prophets, who appear between the scenes. In the first of the play these prophecies are taken from the gospel, according to St. John, and in the last half, from Revelation. This play is attended by the thousands and no wonder. The location is ideal, and the characters are as near perfect as may be. This was the crowning event of Mr. and Mrs. Cantrell's long journey. In Los Angles they saw the beautiful home of Chas. Ray of movie fame. They left Los Angeles for home on the 19th, coming via Salt Lake City, Denver and St. Louis. Denver is sometimes called the mile high city. They came by Colorado Springs, Manitou at the foot of Pike's Peak and other fine points of interest. Somewhere in the mountains they saw the result of two train wrecks. In one case a rain of freight cars left the track and were smashed all to kindling wood. That happened twenty-four hours before they passed along. After leaving Los Angles they ate dinner in California, supper in Nevada, and breakfast in Utah.

They arrived home Friday night the 23rd after an absence of 35 days. Next morning for breakfast they had beet pickles from Portland, butter and cakes from Los Angles and bread and meat from Denver. Going out the chicken prepared by Chapin friends and it lasted so well that the bones are scattered in five diferent states.

Mr. Cantrell sat in a men's Sunday school class taught by a Mr. Taubman in Long Branch, Calif., and the enrolled membership is 1100. That Sunday the attendance was 842. All in all it was a delightful trip, and the only unpleasant experience was the earthquake, but inasmuch as no one was harmed they were glad for the experience. The service of the railroads was all that could be desired.

MR. CAIN IN GOOD HEALTH BUT NERVOUS

Thru some error an item appeared in the Journal yesterday stating that Thomas Cain is a patient at Our Savior's hospital. Some of Mr. Cain's friends were so much concerned that they were about to send him flowers and discovered just in time that he is not a hospital patient, and in fact is in normal health.

Nevertheless, Mr. Cain said yesterday that he is quite likely to have a physical breakdown if he doesn't get relief very soon for the grain elevators he is managing. The relief needed is cars for shipment. The elevators are full of grain and no cars have been available for several days.

This well known farmer and business man has still another cause for worry. He has 80 acres of hay cut and ready for baling and is finding it impossible to secure baling wire. For days past he has been scouring the markets in the endeavor to locate the necessary wire and has not been able to find it. Other farmers have met this same difficulty in recent weeks and there seems to be an absolute dearth of wire of this kind. Nobody knows the reason unless it is that the manufacturing companies have devoted their attention to other lines because of greater profit.

MRS. ALICE SHERFY HOUSTON

Mrs. Houston of the Rumford Department of Home Economics, will hold morning hour demonstrations of household science at our Chautauqua again this year. Mrs. Houston has been here several times and has so many admirers that this announcement should be sufficient to assure her good audiences of housewives who are racking their brains over the hig cost of living. Mrs. Houston demonstrates the use of substitutes, leftovers etc., and the most economical way to buy and prepare foods. She is a college bred woman who specialized in these important matters and in her demonstrations actually prepares foods and allows her hearers to sample them. If the many commendations of Mrs. Houston's demonstrations and requests for her return which come to the Chautauqua management mean anything, she is doing a valuable work.

Enlarged pores are a terrible bug-bear. They ruin the appearance of any complexion. I thought they were one of those unfortunate disfigurements acquired with years but Sybel tells me I am mistaken.

"Enlarged pores are more often caused by the use of injurious facial creams, dear girl, than by the flight of time. Some bleaching creams contain an acid which works havoc with the skin. The purpose of a vanishing cream is to keep the skin dry, and while the particular ingredient which accomplishes this is not necessarily impure or harmful, if used occasionally—constant application may ruin the skin. The pores become clogged and in time the muscles become so weakened they refuse to close.

"Fads and popular fancies should not enter into your choice of a facial cream. Your cream should nourish as well as cleanse.

"Everyone knows cocoa butter is a remarkably fine skin food. Coco-Bloom—my cocoa butter cream—has all the virtues of the cocoa butter it contains, combined with other ingredients that benefit the skin. Daily use of Coco-Bloom soon nourishes the little muscles of the pores so that they can do their work properly.

"You first use steaming hot towels to expand the pores. After massaging the face briskly for five minutes with Coco-Bloom apply hot and cold towels, followed by witch hazel. Gradually the pores will decrease in size and become less conspicuous."

"Remember, Coco-Bloom is cocoa butter cream, and it supplies exactly what is needed to make your skin healthy."

ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC FLEETS TO MOBILIZE

Greatest Concentration of Sea Power in History of American Navy to Result from Junction of Fleets Next January.

Washington, July 29. — The greatest concentration of sea power in the history of the American navy will result from the junction of the reorganized Atlantic and Pacific fleets off the Pacific coast next January under plans now being prepared by naval operations. The great naval spectacle probably will be staged in the vicinity of the gulf of Panama.

Officials of the Navy Department say the proposed mobilization will in no sense result in "grand" maneuvers. No effort will be made to concentrate all of the nation's naval strength and only ships regularly in commission with trained crews will participate. The exercises and drills will be simple and mainly of a competitive nature, including unofficial athletic competitions between representatives of the two fleets and of individual ships. The main object of the mobilization will be to give officers and men an opportunity to compare notes and meet for a few weeks of good-natured rivalry.

Admiral Henry B. Wilson, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, will be senior officer of the combined force, with Admiral Hugh Rodman, chief of the Pacific Fleet, second in command.

Maneuvers to Be Unique.

The maneuvers will be unique in many respects, chiefly in that they will afford the first actual mobilization of the bulk of the new American navy. Before the war the forces were always more or less scattered and a shortage of several types of vessels, particularly of destroyers, submarines, light cruisers, aerial forces and fleet auxiliaries made it impossible to concentrate a well rounded out fleet altho the major portion of the battleship force met each winter at Guantanomo, Cuba, for target and drills.

During the war the shortage in most types of small vessels, notably destroyers and submarines, was overcome, but the entire fleet was never mobilized, due to the use of practically all light craft in the war zone, the detail of cruisers to escort duty and the fact that a considerable portion of the battleship force was on duty abroad much of the time.

New Mark in Navy Progress.

The January maneuvers will set a new mark in American naval progress. For the first time in the history of the new navy the battleship fleet will be supported by a reasonably adequate number of destroyers and other light craft. Submarines will be available in abundance, together with sufficient naval aircraft for all tactical purposes and a fully rounded out fleet of auxiliary vessels. The total number of vessels to participate will depend on the progress of recruiting, as many ships are in reserve now for lack of crews, but it is probable that Admiral Wilson will command at least 300 vessels of all types.

The most modern of dreadnoughts to participate in the manuevers will be the great Tennessee. The last word in naval construction, this great floating fortress displaces 32,000 tons, carries 12 fourteen inch guns and is propolled by electric turbines. The Tennessee is attached to the Atlantic fleet. A sister ship, the California, probably will not be completed in time to join Admiral Rodman's force before the maneuvers.

Striking Contrasts.

A comparison of the ships available for next winter's maneuvers with the naval strength available for a similar concentration ten years ago affords some striking contrasts. January 1, 1910, the latest battleship in the navy was the New Hampshire, authorized by Congress in 1904, construction started in 1905 and completed in 1908. A comparison of the New Hampshire and the Tennesse follows:

New Hampshire: Length 450 feet; breadth 76 feet; draft 27 feet; displacement 17,700 tons; speed 18 knots; main battery 4 twelve inch guns and 8 eight inch; secondary battery 12 three inch; four submerged torpedo tubes; nine inch armor. Propelled by triple expansion steam engines developing 18,000 horsepower; crew, 1,250 including marines.

Tennessee: 1920. Length 600 feet; breadth 97 feet; draft 31 feet; displacement 32,300 tons; speed (contract) 21 knots; main battery 12 fourteen inch guns; secondary battery 14 five inch guns; two submerged torpedo tubes; propelled by electric turbines developing 28,500 horsepower; crew 1,600 men; including marines.

Eighteen single calibre gun ships classed as dreadnoughts will be available for the January maneuvers that were not completed in 1910. They have a combined displacement of 445-000 tons and a combined gun power of 112 fourteen inch guns, 80 twelve, 226 five inch and 28 three inch.

Comparison of Forces.

A comparison of total battleship forces available in 1920 with 1910 shows that this year there are 18 dreadnoughts and 19 pre-dreadnoughts, excluding the Oregon class, against 23 pre-dreadnoughts in 1910, including the Oregon class. Most of the battleships listed as available in 1910 are now considered obsolete.

Ten years ago the navy destroyer force consisted of about 38 vessels, including 17 torpedo boats even then practically obsolete. This year Admirals Wilson and Rodman command destroyer forces aggregating more than 200 vessels, with over 100 more in reserve or under construction. In 1910 16 submarines were carried on the active list of the navy. This year nearly 100 of the submersibles are attached to the two fleets, with about 75 more under construction.

The cruiser strength of the navy has shown little change in the past ten years. In 1910 the backbone of the cruiser force was the "big eight" armored cruisers, now reduced to six by the loss of the San Diego and the Memphis. No light cruisers of importance have been launched in the last decade.

One of the most striking increases in American naval strength in the past 10 years has been in auxiliary vessels. Both the Atlantic and Pacific Fleets now have well organized and complete "trains" of hospital ships, supply boats, repair vessels, refrigerator ships, ammunition and fuel ships, in addition to motor patrol vessels, submarine chasers, mine sweepers and mine layers, converted yachts, submarine and destroyer tenders and troop transports, practically undreamed of a decade ago.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Traffic across the Williamsburgh bridge, one of the large structures spanning the East Diver, was stopped late tonight by a spectacular fire of undetermined origin which destroyed large portions of woodwork under the railroad tracks. Firemen fought the blaze for an hour before they could control it.

STREAMSTOWN, Ireland, July 29.—The West Meeth police barracks were burned last night.

WALSH PLEDGES HIS SUPPORT TO GOVERNOR COX

Differed With Administration on League of Nations

WILL ATTEND HOME COMING FRIDAY

DAYTON, O., July 29.—Governor Cox today was pledged the vigorous and unqualified support of Senator avid I. Walsh of Massachusetts, a leader among senate Democrats who differed widely from the administration on the league of nations and who fought for reservations.

Senator Walsh arrived unexpectedly today. He said he had not learned Governor Cox's attitude toward reservations and other details of the league controversy adding that he called solely to talk over ordinary campaign affairs, he said, with W. J. Mahoney, Governor Cox's son-in-law. He was the sole visitor today.

Governor Cox today finished the first rough draft of his acceptance address and will be the guest of honor here tomorrow at a "home coming" and non-political celebration.

This will open with a parade at 2:30 o'clock but all speech making has been eliminated.

Governor Cox will review the parade, however.

BATTLESHIP IOWA NOW USED AS TARGET

Once Fmous Battleship Being Prepared for Unique Target Experiments—Turned Over to Bureal of Steam Engineering.

Washington.—The once famous battleship Iowa, which played no small part in the destruction of Cevera's fleet at Santiago is being prepared at the Philadelphia navy yard for what naval officers say will be one of the most unique target experiments ever attempted.

Proceeding unmanned, but under her own steam and controlled by radio, probably from seaplanes the old sea fighter will become the objective of the big guns of the Atlantic fleet superdreadnaughts in Chesapeake bay late this summer. This will be the first time that American warships have used a moving target for a target except in actual war.

Two of the Iowa's coal burning boilers are being converted to burn oil so the ship may continue under way with no one aboard once her fires have been started burning and her engines placed in motion.

It is expected that the unique practice will give the gunpointers of the Atlantic fleet an opportunity to test their ability under conditions as nearly like those to be expected in battle as can be obtained. Smoke screens will be thrown around the Iowa during the runs and the course will be changed at will through the radio control system, necessitating a change in range on all the firing ships, exactly as would occur in action.

The Iowa has already been stripped of some of its guns and much valuable metal and the practice will be continued until the old vessel, a mass of twisted metal, sinks beneath the waves to join the old Texas, which, as the San Marcos, was used for as a stationary target years ago.

The battleship Ohio has been turned over to the Bureau of Steam Engineering for purposes of experiment in radio control and a staff of expert technical officers has been placed on board to arrange the Iowa practice.

SHIP WOOL TO CHICAGO

Houghton, Mich. — Houghton county farmers have just completed shipping 34,000 pounds of wool, the bulk of this year's clip, to Chicago and Lansing, according to County Agriculturist Geismar. Most of the wool shipped came from the Kenton and Sidnaw districts where sheep raising is a thriving industry.

There is little demand just now for wool, according to Mr. Geismar. The wool sent to Lansing was added to the pool being formed there by growers who refuse to sell to any speculator or dealer and who will hold their wool until the market adjusts itself.

MANY LIQUOR CASES IN FEDERAL COURT

Cleveland, O.—Fines amounting to $382,687 were assessed and not a single acquittal returned in a liquor case in the Federal court here during the fiscal year ending June 30, last, according to the annual report of United States District Attorney Ed S. Wertz. Of 586 cases tried 509 sentences were imposed. The other seventy-seven cases are still pending.

SAYS FRIENDS WERE AMAZED AT RECOVERY

Had Been in Bed So Long She Lost Fifty Pouunds in Weight—Health Restored by Tanlac.

It is doubtful if there has ever been a statement in all the thousands that have been made about Tanlac that is more interesting or more clearly and forcibly defines the remarkable powers of the medicine than the following from Mrs. Laura Rarick of 403 Meidroth St., Peoria, Ill.

"I had been down in bed so long before taking Tanlac," said Mrs. Rarick, "that after I recovered people who knew the frightful condition I had been in were amazed. I had suffered for eleven long years and had taken medicines and tried specialists in various cities, but, in spite of it all I had gotten so bad off there was no hope for my recovery. My stomach was so badly upset that it sometimes caused me to have awful cramps that lasted for hours. Even liquid diets caused this same misery and I would have such a stuffed-up, heavy feeling that my breath would come in short, quick gasps and I would think each breath was going to be my last. Sometimes I had almost deathly sick spells, just like I was going to faint, which exhausted me so completely that I would be in bed for several days unable to walk a step. Almost every day I had a headache that was so severe I could hardly bear it and I often had dreadful attacks of dizziness. My kidneys were badly disordered, I had a terrible pain in my back that felt like a knife sticking in me. My nights were spent in misery, my whole system seemed to be poisoned and my complexion turned yellow as gold. I lost so much weight that it alarmed me. I don't believe any women ever went through as much suffering and had as little hope as I did and then lived through it all to be a well and happy woman.

"I believe as nrmly as I believe anything that Tanlac has saved my life and my friends all say my recovery is simply wonderful and that I am looking as healthy and strong as I ever did. Can eat anything I want and digest it without a particle of trouble. I don't know what a headache is and I am entirely free from dizziness and from those weak, fainty spells I used to have. My kidneys are in splendid condition, the pains have gone from by back and I sleep soundly every night. My strength and energy have all returned and my health has not only been completely restored but I have regained all my lost weight, fifty pounds."

TEXAS RANCHMAN VISITING WHITE HALL

Fred Rives, Manager of Rives-Tunison-Griswold Ranch in Lone Star State, Visiting Relatives—S. G. Smith Passes Away

White Hall, July 29.—Fred Rives is here this week from Weslaco, Texas,, where he operates the Rives-Tunison-Griswold ranch. He has been in Texas a year and is well pleased with the venture. He speaks highly of Mexican laborers the better class coming into the United States and the wages paid them range from $1.25 to $2.00 per day.

An important meeting of the C. & A. telegraphers will be held in Bloomington Friday in connection with the recent award of the wage board. The head of the telegraphers has rejected the award, and a vote of the membership is to follow on the proposition of acceptance or rejection. White Hall will be represented as follows: Station, L. O. Goodrich; Tower, C. O. Withrow; West Roodhouse Tower, Henry Brandt. The membership about here is disposed to look with askance upon a strike unless the presentation to be made at Bloomington discloses gross injustice to the telegraphers.

The coal situation is having local effect. One dealer, asked the price of bituminous coal, answered "I don't know." And he doesn't. The closing down of mine operations has rendered it impossible for the sewer pipe and drain tile plants to resume operations. The fact seems to be generally accepted that the srike would be settled were it not for the fuel problem following closely on an adjustment of the threatened railroad strike. The Ruckel plant has been in operation right along but the fuel supply there will result in an early shutdown unless relief comes quickly The grain car situation is also curtailing wheat receipts. The situation in the latter case is such that any kind of a rough box car that is repairable is improvised for grain shipment. The elevators are full, and the only relief now in sight is the fact that the wheat harvest is nearly over.

Samuel G. Smih Is Dead.

The death of Samuel G. Smith occurred at his home on King street at 4:50 o'clock Tuesday morning. He had been ill for a year or more, and for the past six months had been totally helpless. He was a native of Greene county, coming to White Hall from Patterson about two years ago. A wife and several children survive. A brother, Rev. J. W. Smith, is pastor of the Baptist church at Assumption, Illinois. Short funeral services were held at the home at 12:30 Thursday, and the remains were then conveyed to Patterson where services were held at the Baptist church at 2 o'clock by Rev. Homer Evans, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist church at White Hall. The burial was in the Pine Tree cemetery at Patterson. The age of the deceased was 57 years, 8 months and 9 days.

Mrs. Clara Kellogg who is sojourning at Ocean Falls B. C., writes: "The county is all so strange and different from what we see in the middle states or the east." Mrs. Kellogg left her two sons here while she and the youngest son joined Mr. Kellogg on a trip to British Columbia and the Canadian Northwest on business pertaining to conservation. Mr. Kellogg is chairman of the news print section of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.

This is the season of picnics. Thursday the M. W. A., picnic was held at Carrollton with the Watch Factory Band of Springfield, as the leading attraction. Today fish frys were held at Patterson and Murrayville so forth and so on. The annual affair at Athensville is set for August 4th, this being also the date of a burgoo at Barrow.

CROSS COUNTRY TRAVELERS

Rev. W. C. Howard, pastor of a Presbyterian church in Kansas, with his wife, baby and mother, arrived in the city by auto yesterday on their way for a visit with friends in Cincinnati, Ohio. Both the gentleman and ladies were very pleasant and agreeable people to meet and expressed themselves well pleased with their journey. In Kansas they encountered considerable mud but in Missouri and Illinois dust was the order. They put up at hotels and are enjoying the journey not a little.

Jacksonville's own soprano, Mrs. Helen Brown Read, will be heard in a popular concert on the first evening of the assembly.

Mrs. Read's successes and ability are so well known that the management were delighted that it could secure her for an evening concert and give opportunity to Chautauqua patrons to hear our greatest musician, who is constantly adding laurels to her already great reputation as an artist. Little Alice Louise Schrode, who captivated everyone last year, is coming back again. This will be good news to the kiddies and most of the grown-ups too.

The program for the assembly in addition to its famous lecturers and exceptionally attractive music has plenty of entertainment including:

Smith Damron, clay modeller.

Davis, magician.

Miss Penick, impersonator and reader.

Miss Breed, humorous reader.

Vissochi, accordianist and humorist.

HOME FROM THE NAVY

E. H. Glasgow, son of the late Rev. S. A. Glasgow of Woodson, is home with his mother after a service of eight years in the navy. He had the honorable position of chief yoman and as such did much service on various ships and traveled much over the world. During the trouble with Mexico he was with a ship at Mazatlan and so formidable was the man of war the Mexies were very well behaved while she was there.

During the great world war Mr. Glasgow served at Mare Island, putting crews aboard ships that were built in the San Francisco district and while not permitted to go abroad, as so greatly desired he served his country fully as usefully in the sphere he occupied. He is every inch a sailor and well versed in the intricacies of his calling.

He was recently married and has decided to leave the sea, as his time had expired and he hopes to find some kind of employment in this vicinity so that he may be near his mother to afford any assistance she needs. He is a fine appearing young man and very interesting to meet.

William R. Buford has been in Jacksonville for a number of days a guest at the home of his sister-in-law, and cousin, Mrs. John B. Dobyns of West State street. Mr. Buford was a resident of Jacksonville many years ago, as he came to this state in 1864. At that time he was engaged in business on the west side of the square, the firm name being Buford & Baynter and their men's hat store being located in a building near the present site of the Dunlap & Russel bank. The business was continued until 1867 and the following year Mr. Buford married Miss Sarah B. Dobyns, a sister of the late John B. and Thomas P. Dobyns. Shortly afterward he joined Messrs. Dobyns in the boot and shoe business. Mr. Buford was born at his grandfather's home, Chief Justice George Robertson, of Lexington, Ky., and he was reared at Elkwood farm in Woodford county, 12 miles from Lexington, Ky.

The record of the family shows that the grandfather of the Jacksonville visitor, Col. Abram Buford, soon after the close of the Revolutionary war, emigrated from Virginia to Kentucky and was a pioneer in the settlement of the blue grass section of the state.

It was from Kentucky that W. R. Buford came to this city and after he left Jacksonville he was for many years resident in Kentucky, later going to Chattanooga, Tenn., which is now his home. Mr. Buford is also a kinsman of Prof. D. W. George.

Mrs. Clyde Rudisill very pleasantly entertained about twenty ladies at her home near Arcadia, last Tuesday. At noon a delightful dinner was served. During the day the ladies tacked two comforters and quilted one quilt for the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudisill will leave by auto Thursday morning for Eureka, where for a short time they will visit Mrs. Rudisill's mother, after which they will travel to Arkansas City, Kansas, where they expect to make their future home.

For a number of years past Mr. Rudisill has been engaged in the wall paper and painting business and has built up quite a trade in the adjoining communities. However he has decided to abandon his former vocation and take a position in the Polar Bear Flour Mills, where his brother Fred is now employed.

It is with much regret their many friends see them leave Morgan county, but all unite in wishing them prosperity, pleasant surroundings and many new friends in their new home.

Farm Bureau Notes

Marketing Association to Begin Work—"The Champaign County Farm Bureau has just engaged the services of J. E. Johnson, cashier of the Broadlands bank, and also manager of a grain business at that place, as business manager of the marketing work. Dr. Johnson will have charge of all cooperative buying, selling and other work of a business character done by the Farm Bureau. We hope and expect to be able to work in close cooperation with Farmers' Elevators. These elevators are owned by farmers, practically all farm bureau members, and are so financed and located as to be able to serve the farmers of the county better than they could be served by a large centrally located corporation. Such a corporation could not do business except in more or less competition with these elevators and we wish to avoid this.

We may use potatoes as an illustration of the way we hope to handle this proposition. This county buys the biggest per cent of its potatoes every year. Mr. Johnson will visit the potato growing districts and determine where he wants to buy. He will make contracts with Farmers' Elevators, township farm bureau organiaztions or other crops of farm bureau members to put up the money and to handle the potatoes locally. When he buys he will draw on these local companies or organizations for the money and will ship the potatoes to them. They can usually be distributed direct from the car but may be stored to be used during winter or spring. We think that there are many things that can be handled in the same way.

We have had meetings of our township farm bureau directors and of the officers of the farmers' elevators and all seem enthusiastic over the plan. We know, however, that it will take lots of missionary and educational work, and careful planning so we engaged the services of the best man we could locate. He is capable of doing the preliminary work and also the business part of it. Of course, all the details will have to be worked out by him. He has studied the job very carefully before accepting it. We expect to go slowly and carefully, realizing that mistakes and criticism will be plentiful at best."—C. H. Oathout.

Having purchased the Pacific cafe we invite a continuance of the patronage and assure our friends and patrons that we will still keep the same high standard of the quantity and quality of cooking that has made this place famous in the past, and with which we have built up the trade in our other two places. Mr. Ben Owen who is known thruout the state will have direct charge of the place.

W. J. Weber of Aurora was calling on friends in the city yesterday.

AN INTERESTING LETTER

E. P. Wilson, 615 North Fayette street, has received a very interesting letter from his son Arthur who has been in the service six years. He was under age when he enlisted and had to have his father's consent. He was eleven months in France and saw a full share of hard fighting in some of the important engagements there:

Dear Mother and All:

Just received your ever welcome letter this morning and will try to answer it before I start to work. I have lots of work to do this morning. Just received 44 recruits this morning and I must assign them this morning and there is quite a bit of work in assigning 44 recruits.

I don't know where Mae and Ed got the idea that I would be home on the 4th or 10th of July or the 15th either. I think I told Mae in a letter that I would probably be home some time in August, altho I did not say just what part of August. But now I think I will be home on or before the 20th of August. But I'll let you know before I get there.

I've lots of work in the office to do before I go and I am short on clerks so I can not tell just when I will be able to leave. But somewhere around the 12th or 14th I hope. But I'll let you know for sure before I start and you can let the rest of them know for I am not sure whether I will have time to go to Champaign or not. I have to be at Fort Monroe, Va.

You asked me why I did not come back to Illinois and re-enlist there for any place I want to go to. Well in the first place if I did that I would lose my rank unless I re-enlisted the next day and that would be impossible if I was discharged out here and re-enlisted in Illinois. Also I would lose my class "A" allotment. But as it happens I re-enlisted on July 3, 1920. I don't see why I should go out of the army and work my head off for a living when I am making $107 a month and my home, fuel, light, water, clothing and my privilege of purchasing commissaries from the government. Believe me that is better than I can do on the outside without working like a horse. As for wearing the uniform, I would just as soon wear it as anything else for there is nothing about it to be ashamed of. There are just as good men in the army as anywhere. For you will find the same class of men everywhere you go. Changing from civilian clothes to the uniform does not change a man. Altho I think about three years in the army would do lots towards straightening some of the pool room loafers up. If they were somewhere where they had to do something instead of loaf all day. Some people are under the impression that all men join the army to get out of work. But I want to tell you right now that I have worked harder in the army than I ever did on the outside. I think that would be apparent since I have been a non-com for the last four years. And what people think of me and the uniform makes no difference to me. It's nothing in my young life whether they like it. Outside of one's own family there is no such thing as friends for anyone. They are all your friends as long as you have money, but when you get broke and down to your last shoe string they d—— soon quit. Just so long as I can make a good living in the army, just that long will I stay and when my thirty years are up I'll retire on three-fourths pay and allowances and still not be so very old. And that is better than any firm in civil life will do for you.

I have been shooting off my face quite a bit in this letter, but it is only because I want you to know how I feel. Of course I do not mean for any of you to take this to heart, for I know you all want me to do as I think best, but for the benefit of any of your friends and neighbors who inquire as to why I do not leave the army, just tell them that that is my affair and not theirs. I know lots of people are going round telling about what bums the soldiers are and even worse than that. They have apparently forgotten that had it not been for the regular army they would probably belong to Germany now. Of course they all laugh and say that the national army and national guard won the war and that there were not enough regulars to make any difference. But it was the regular army men that took the men from the national army and national guard and made soldiers of them. Made soldiers out of walking clothes racks in more than one case.

Furthermore the records of the war department shows that the majority of killed and wounded was in the regular army considering the percentage in each branch, i. e., regular army, national army and national guard. Just tell them all how I feel about the army when they start calling us bums, and the scum of the earth and so on, and I can back up every statement I make with hard, cold facts things that they cannot deny.

Well, I had better stop rambling along this way and bring this letter to a close or I'll never get any work done. I'll let you know sure before I start east.

Your son,
Arthur.

P. S.: Have the shoes for W. P. and something for you. Mary is going to stay out here.

Goodyear Mileage = and Tires for Small Cars

A well built tire yields much more mileage for each dollar of cost than a tire purposely made to be offered at a sensationally low price; buy the tire, not the price.

Built to deliver exceptional mileage at exceedingly low cost, Goodyear Tires, of the 30 x 3-, 30 x 3½- and 31 x 4-inch sizes, save inconvenience, disappointment and money.

Their value results from the application of Goodyear experience, expertness and care to their manufacture in the world's largest tire factory devoted to these sizes.

If you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell or other car taking these sizes, go to your nearest Service Station for Goodyear Tires—for the real worth and endurance that Goodyear builds into them.

Kopperl Insurance Agency

The Agency of Service East State and Square

Good health is absolutely necessary to success in life. With it the possibilities and opportunities are limitless.

The reason why more men and women do not make greater success and progress is because they waste so much of their nerve energy. This waste drains the system of the smashing, success-driving power and leaves it weak, listless, tired, out-of-sorts, ambitionless and subject to many ills. The condition is caused more often by energy dissipated by faulty nerve action than by work.

Success Through Conserving Nerve Force

Every man and woman can conserve their full mental and physical powers through Chiropractic. By scientific adjustment of the spinal column, the Chiropractor removes the cause of faulty nerve action and brings about a normal distribution of energy. Nature then revitalizes and regenerates the weakened and diseased system and restores the vital energy that almost inveriably results in greater material benefit.

CHIROPRACTIC THE BETTER WAY TO HEALTH

is drugless. As a means of helping Nature to restore Health and vigor it is without equal, and the results it has accomplished have been little short of miraculous. If you are sick, Chiropractic (KI-RO-PRAK-TIC) will help you to health. If you are well it will help you feel better. Just investigate.

A FLavo FLour Baking

HOT ROLLS, BREAD AND CAKE. How delicious they are when baked with FLavo! She is pleased with her efforts as you will be because FLavo is a dependable flour scientifically milled for baking and raising qualities.

THAT MEANS A LOT. It is not easy to bake with just ANY flour. The delicate starch and gluten cells must be preserved—not pulverized—a most important feature. They help the bread to raise and keep it moist.

THE MARVEL PROCESS looks after that. It's the new patented way of flour making which does not "kill" the flour in the milling nor destroy the delightful nature flavor of the wheat berry.

Daily Market Report

MARKET AT BEST IN THE FINAL HOUR

NEW YORK, July 29.—An undercurrent of strength pervaded the stock market today despite the more acute weakness of international remittances the rate on London, for example, falling to the lowest quotation since last March. Offerings of sterling bills were unusually extensive, according to the reports of dealers some of whom were inclined to regard the selling as speculative.

Stocks derived much of their support from the optimistic statement of Governor Harding of the federal reserve board regarding credit conditions. The market was at its best in the final hour when rails were brought forward on rumors that the interstate commerce commission would soon announce freight and passenger rates acceptable to the railway executives.

Oils, woolens, and textiles rallied with such ease as to cause urgent short covering and several of the prominent miscellaneous specialties closed at gains of 1 to 3 points. Sales amounted to 550,000 shares.

Trading in bonds was less active, but the tone was stronger. Total sales, par value, aggregated $9,175,000.

FINANCIAL OUTLOOK HURTS GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, July 29.—Attention to bearish view on the financial outlook counted today in depressing the grain market after an all around advance. Wheat closed heavy, 1¼c to 1½c net lower with December, $2.33¼ and March $2.36¼. Corn finished 1c to 2⅛c down, and oats varying from 1@1⅛c decline to 1¼c gain. The outcome in provisions was a setback of 2c to 15c. At first the wheat market had an upward tendency with other cereals owing largely to apprehension that dry weather might injure the corn crop. Later, however, the fact that export bids were six cents to 8 cents lower put a weight on the market and so too did weakness of foreign exchange. Sharp upturns with which the day opened in the corn market were more than wiped out in the last hour.

HUNGRY FEELING WAS DECEPTIVE AT MEAL TIMES

That Was Before Mrs. Arnold Discovered That "Trutona is Worth its Weight in Gold."

Decatur, Ill., July 29.—"Anyone who is suffering from a run-down system will find Trutona worth its weight in gold," says Mrs. Edna Arnold, who lives in Decatur at 551 North Ookland avenue.

"Last February I suffered an attack of influenza which left me very weak and worn out. My appetite was very poor. At times I'd feel as though I was hungry, but when I tried to eat I would find that I wanted only a few bites. I was so nervous that I really dreaded to go to bed, as I couldn't go to sleep at all. I always felt as tired in the morning as I did upon retiring the night before.

"My condition is greatly changed now, since I began taking Trutona. My appetite is very much improved, and I enjoy my meals. DAWSON TEAM WILL APPEAR HERE SUNDAY

Fast Team to Hook Up With the Indees — Schedule Given Up to September 12.

Sunday the fast Dawson team comes for a game with the Indees at South Side park. Dawson has been playing some good ball this season and recently has been strengthened. One of the well known players of the Dawson team is Federhan of Springfield, who plays first base. Federhan is considered one of the best first basemen in this part of the country.

The Indees are going good at the present time but Manager Smith says they are still not playing up to their standard. It is to be hoped the men get together and play to win games. That is what the fans want to see. They have little interest in what a player's bating or fielding averis on the long end of the score. is on of the lond end of the score.

The playing schedule to September 12 is given.

August 1—Dawson.
August 8—Myers Bros., Springfield.
August 15—Girard.
August 22—Thayer.
August 29—Decatur.
September 5 and 6—Peoria.
September 12 — Elks' Machants, Springfield.
